Debi Howe,

Ever have a great idea for a new business, or say to yourself, "There's got to be a better way!" From cars to the internet, from cassette tapes to duct tape, someone, somewhere had an idea for a new product or service.

Do you have that same entrepreneurial spirit?

If you or someone you know is thinking about starting or improving a business, the 2017 Entrepreneurship Day, brought to you by SCORE and SBDC, has assembled experts in the fields of marketing, business start up, finance, nonprofit management, and more. "The day is going to be a valuable resource tool for new or prospective businesses as well as existing business owners looking for ideas to grow or improve their operation," notes event chair Debi Howe. "We've selected some of the greatest business minds from southwest Michigan to provide as much information in one place as we can."
